Excerpt from Croatian Tales of Long Ago

Once upon a time very long ago there lived an old man in a glade in the midst of an ancient forest. His name was Witting, and he lived there with his three grandsons. Now this old man was all alone in the world save for these three grandsons, and he had been father and mother to them from the time when they were quite little. But now they were full-grown lads, so tall that they came up to their grandfather's shoulder, and even taller. Their names were Bluster, Careful and Quest.

informative

By Mary S. Stewart

A great telling of several folktales. Easy to read and appreciated the glossary of terms. Would like to know more of how these tales relate to other European folk and fairy tales.

Highly recommend!

I donot like the translation

By Queen Margo

I donot like the translation. It bought the book as a gift and it doesnot convey the beauty of the original. Furthermore, the book does not include all of the stories.
